Response to Amendment

1. Applicant's amendment and arguments of September 2, 2008 have been entered.
2. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
3. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. Claims 35-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Reef et al. in view of Fournier et al.

Reef et al. discloses a fuel transfer arrangement for transferring fuel from one portion of a fuel tank to another portion of a fuel tank spaced from the one portion, comprising: a source of pressurized fuel 16; a nozzle 32 disposed in one portion of the fuel tank having an inlet in communication with the source of pressurized fuel to receive pressurized fuel, and an outlet through thru which fuel is discharged; a pair of orifices communicating with the source of high pressure fuel between the source and the nozzle; (one orifice from the engine to a return line 20 and the other orifice at the inlet to the nozzle 32); and the pressurized fuel between the source and one of the orifices has a first pressure ant the pressurized fuel between the orifices has a second pressure and the pressurized fuel between another of the orifices and the nozzle has a third pressure, the first pressure being greater than the second pressure and the second pressure being greater than the third pressure. The first pressure must be greater than the second pressure and the second pressure must be greater than the third pressure in order to for the fuel to move from line 20 into the source 16. Reef et al. do not disclose at least one restrictor plate as recited. Fournier et al. teach a fuel pump module comprising a reservoir 26, a nozzle 28 supplying fuel to the reservoir, a high pressure fuel pump 14 having an inlet communicating with the reservoir and having an outlet of pressurized fuel, and a restrictor plate 30 between the outlet of the fuel pump and the inlet of the nozzle 28. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the device of Reef et al. by incorporating a restrictor plate between the outlet of the fuel pump and the inlet of the nozzle of the jet pump as taught by the concept of Fournier et al. to control fuel flow.
